

Case Study

DP WORLD London Gateway

Company profile

Company: DP World London Gateway

Contact: Mark Wills

Title: Health and Safety Advisor

Continual development

DP World London Gateway is the UK's most integrated logistics hub; a state-of-the-art deep-sea port and rail terminal on the same site as an expansive land bank for the flexible and fast development of logistics facilities and warehouses.

Health and safety at DP World London Gateway

As one of the five fastest growing ports in the world, there is a significant need for health and safety oversight. Not only to fulfill our legal requirements but to foster a consultative 'safety first' culture that raises standards and creates a safer and healthier workforce that ultimately improves performance.

In accordance with the Representatives and Safety Committees Regulations 1977, we appointed Trade Union Safety Representatives. These representatives will be consulted on matters affecting employee health and safety. They do this through membership of the company's Health and Safety Committee that oversees, and works to improve all aspects of safety across the business.

Training employees

For best practice, all of our Safety Representatives undertook RoSPA's dedicated training course. This ensured that they understand their role as Safety Representatives, the purpose and benefits of a company safety committee and how they can make a positive contribution to the organisation's safety culture.

The training has benefited the business; our Safety Representatives are now more safety conscious and engaged in making their workplace safer.

I would recommend the course to other organisations looking for safety training. RoSPA offer a knowledgeable and friendly service.

"Our employees' overall experience of the training course was very good; they found the content useful and interesting. More so, they feel valued and part of the improved safety culture we are working to create."

Mark Wills, Health and Safety Advisor

DP World London Gateway is a state-of-the-art deep-sea port and logistics park offering fast, flexible supply chain solutions.

